

About CART

Established in 1983 as a small voluntary group of concerned citizens, Consumer Unity & Trust Society (CUTS) expanded its activities and CUTS CART was set up in 1996 as a programme centre to pursue the cause of common consumers, initially being undertaken by CUTS as the mandate.

The programmes of the Centre are primarily aimed at generating awareness, creating a more responsible society and encouraging changes at the policy level by advocating with the government machinery and sensitising it to the issues of concern of the common man. The Centre has spearheaded several campaigns and pioneered consumer empowerment.

Delivering Democracy Retrospect and Prospect

Democratic decentralisation is the power, responsivity, and authority of decision-making in different layers of government, which are Central, State and Local Self Governments. More powerful decentralisation is when more and more citizenries participate and contribute to the governance system, especially the local governance system. It is a fact that several issues can be efficiently solved at the local level only through empowered, innovative, resourceful, transparent, and accountable local governments.

Under C20, the working group on 'Delivering Democracy: Retrospect and Prospect' is one such group, which is organising multiple in-person knowledge assimilation events and roundtables, incorporating its various sub-themes at the national and regional levels. One of the regional roundtables for the north region was organised by CUTS International in Jaipur on June 07, 2023.

The roundtable featured a diverse group of participants from various sectors and states. The Chief Guest was Member of Parliament Ram Charan Bohra, and the keynote speaker was Kamal Chandra Yogi, a Professor from Central Sanskrit University. Rajib Dasgupta, Head of Research at Grassroots Research and Advocacy Movement also attended the roundtable.

The event saw the presence of PRI members, including Pradhans (Panchayat Sarpanch or Zila Parishad members) who were honoured by the Prime Minister of India for their innovative development initiatives aimed at promoting people's participation in a transparent and accountable manner. These PRI members hailed from Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, Punjab, Uttar Pradesh, and Rajasthan.

In addition to them, Mayors, Deputy Mayors (both current and former), representatives from urban local bodies (ULBs), civil society organisations (CSOs), and media representatives actively participated in the discussions.

The roundtable also had the presence of retired bureaucrats, development researchers, social activists on women, gender, Dalit rights and youth empowerment, Domain experts of Indian heritage, philosophy and culture, and youth and tribal movement activists. CUTS team members facilitated the roundtable and actively participated in the discussions. Hence, a total of 50 participants participated.

effectively implement government schemes.

Electricity Consumers in Rajasthan Bear Burden of Weak Distribution Company Finances

Electricity consumers in Rajasthan are paying irrational charges that unnecessarily burden their pockets. In the case of industry, it reduces their ability to produce efficiently and create wealth and jobs.

CUTS said that the whole economics of both homesteads and industry are unfairly burdened by the very high electricity bills. For example, fuel surcharges to the tune of ₹0.50 per unit over and above a high rate are being levied. The worst hit is the electricity-intensive industries some of which pay fuel surcharges as high as ₹50 lakhs per month, thus making them uncompetitive and regressive.

These surcharges are calculated on a quarterly basis and levied upon consumers when there is a cost escalation in the landed cost of fuel (generally coal) owing to increased market prices, transportation costs etc. But more often than not, these hefty charges are an indicator of operational inefficiencies of power distribution companies (discoms).

For instance, a special fuel surcharge of ₹0.07 per unit is currently added to the electricity bills to recover the financial liability suffered by the discoms following payment of ₹7,000 crore to Adani Rajasthan Power Limited on account of the discoms' failure in honouring the contractual liability that arose due to the import of coal on higher prices. This was done without any public consultations. The Rajasthan Electricity Regulatory Commission has been challenged in the Rajasthan High Court for this move.

The transparency of the mechanism through which fuel surcharges are calculated is also in question as it generally is taken up by a third party to ensure credibility. However, it was not done in this case. On the flip side, Rajasthan is a leading producer of low-cost renewable energy. The installed solar energy in Rajasthan stands at 17 GW but not even one-third of this (5 GW) is purchased by discoms. The fact that power produced and consumed within the state can significantly reduce the costs associated with transmission and distribution losses, transmission infrastructure, grid augmentation etc. is continuously overlooked by RERC and the Energy Department.

If unchecked, the state, on the one hand, will likely end up being an exporter of low-cost renewable energy, while on the other, consumers will be forced to pay an exorbitant amount of money for electricity.
