Motivation and Impact of Grassroots Philanthropy in Rajasthan

A new project entitled ‘The Grassroots Philanthropy Project in Rajasthan’, supported by the Ford Foundation, has commenced with a strong focus on preliminary landscaping activities. These activities are crucial for understanding the local philanthropic landscape, identifying key players, and gathering insights into the motivations and types of philanthropy prevalent in the region. Currently, the initiative is conducting a detailed analysis of grassroots philanthropy activities across Rajasthan.

Strategic meetings between the CUTS project team and the Ford Foundation team were held to review project’s findings and seek recommendations. These discussions aimed to refine research methodologies and incorporate significant case studies, enhancing understanding of the motivations, mechanisms and impacts of community giving in diverse districts such as Kota, Jodhpur, Udaipur, and Jaipur.

The project employs rigorous research methods, including in-depth interviews, focus group discussions (FGDs), and surveys, to provide comprehensive insights into grassroots philanthropy in Rajasthan. Notably, in June, an in-depth interview was conducted with Sohan Lal Tambi, a prominent businessman in Jaipur known for his philanthropic endeavours.

Stakeholder Mapping on SDG Localisation in India

CUTS recently collaborated with Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) India to study SDG localisation in India and mapping of stakeholders in three targeted states: Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Meghalaya. This study will examine state-specific performance on SDGs and identify priority areas through a comprehensive literature review. CUTS team will also visit relevant departments in each state and conduct interviews with key stakeholders.

During the kick off meeting with GIZ officials in New Delhi on May 14, 2024, the project action plan and strategy were discussed. GIZ officials outlined their priorities and CUTS presented the project strategy. The team initiated a secondary literature review of the targeted states and is gathering information from various sources for stakeholder mapping.

By Vijay L. Kelkar and Pradeep S Mehta

A recent report says that in India's judicial system. In the slothful manner that their adjudication takes place, it may take aeons to clear the backlog. There are many reasons for this terrible situation in a realm as vital as justice and therefore multiple remedial measures are required to arrest the delays. One of these measures is granting no more than the three adjournments.

Alas, this is practiced more in the breach, thus adding to delays in the disposal of cases and keeping our courts clogged. It drew criticism from Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud when the Supreme Court celebrated its 75th anniversary recently and he expressed his thoughts on reducing delays.
